

Maximize your team's impact by adding visibility, accountability, and repeatability to your manual processes.

Rivet minimizes or eliminates the complexity, time, and expense associated with repeatable business processes. Managing people, projects, and assets has never been easier – or faster.

Managing repeatable business processes is often complicated and resource-consuming, heavily relying on email back-and-forth and the use and sharing of spreadsheets. But they are also a vital part of a thriving business. Multiple, often siloed, departments are involved in a range of critical business processes, from supplier onboarding and quality checks to inspection checks and audits. They eat up valuable time and resources otherwise spent on more strategic work.

Rivet was custom-built to address these complex and labor-intensive processes by aligning the tasks and context associated with every department from supplier relations, merchandising, and procurement to legal, finance, IT, and DC. The result is greater speed-to-shelf, increased data accuracy, and added visibility and accountability where none currently exists.

Create a more resilient supply chain today.

“Rivet gave us time back and simplified a process that had previously been onerous and difficult to manage. Our suppliers are significantly happier with the efficiencies gained by using Rivet.”

Marty Hahn, Director of Vendor Relations, GNC

Automate All or Parts of Your Critical Business Processes with Rivet Blueprints

Start reaping the full benefits of Rivet faster with our pre-built solutions.

Vendor Onboarding

Onboarding new vendors is a difficult, expensive, and time consuming effort. The process of collecting, analyzing, and verifying data from disparate groups is menial and repetitive. Streamline the process so that all vendor onboarding tasks are completed across departments.

Customer Onboarding & Annual Requirements

New customers are the lifeblood of any thriving business for vendors or suppliers. But onboarding them effectively and managing annual changes to their vendor requirements can be costly and time-consuming. Provide a higher level of service to your customers by onboarding them quickly and seamlessly managing requirements changes.

Vendor Rebate Management

Many vendor rebate agreements are hidden away in legacy financial systems or lost in filing cabinets. Manage, track, and maximize the value of vendor rebates in a central location so you can quickly act on missed opportunities and improve your operating margins.

Return to Vendor Processing

A lack of visibility into vendor returns can lead to troubled inventory and misused warehouse space. Easily identify inventory problems, assign responsibilities, and set priorities and deadlines to improve your bottom line.

Annual Vendor Requirements Acknowledgments

Vendor requirements acknowledgments are the first step in building a successful relationship between partners, but the process can also consume a disproportionate amount of time and resources. With Rivet, ensure everyone is on the same page as to outstanding tasks and their owners.

Damages & Returns Management Process

Keeping tabs on damages & returns claims across orders is critical to delivering exceptional customer service. But managing the process, collecting customer data, and overseeing resolution is time-consuming and labor intensive. Automate the process to streamline your existing workflow with our Damages & Returns Management blueprint.

Wholesale Compliance Management

Vendors shipping to large retail companies know firsthand the challenges that come with wholesale compliance. Associated processes involve multiple departments that are often running on different data systems. Rivet allows you to standardize the process, track invoice shortages/overages, investigate causes, file and resolve disputes, and provide guidance to Accounts Receivable for balancing accounts.

Customer Corrective Action

Consumers demand brand excellence, especially when it comes to having their concerns and complaints resolved. But retailers face challenges, including overwrought business processes, that often stand in the way of success. Rivet enables you to deliver exceptional service while saving the time and money you'd otherwise spend on complicated corrective action plans. Coordinate tasks across departments and speed up time to resolution.

Annual Certificate of Insurance (COI) Tracking

Keeping track of which vendors are due to submit COIs and which have and haven't is a critical yet tedious process. Rivet automatically notifies partners when COIs are due and tracks their completion to streamline the process.

Efficiency Drives Performance

Whether you start with a single department or automate your entire process, Rivet delivers instantaneous return on investment.

✓ Minimize the Need for Incomplete Tools

Email, spreadsheets, and task management software are piecemeal solutions. Rivet contains tasks, data, documentation, and communications, all in a single platform.

✓ Focus Your Talent on High-Value Tasks

Formalized processes automate mundane tasks and eliminate the need for someone to oversee processes on both enterprise and supplier sides. Achieve ROI through labor savings alone.

✓ Address At-Risk Deadlines Proactively

Automated emails alert campaign recipients of daily progress including when tasks are unacceptable, incomplete, or at risk of being late.

✓ Gain a Comprehensive View

Rivet provides enterprise-wide visibility, accountability, and control to traditionally siloed and informal processes. Instead of estimates, act on the latest data and information.
